DRYA Overview

The Detroit Regional Yacht-Racing Association was established in 1912 as the Detroit River Yachting Association by the Commodores of the Detroit Boat Club and the Detroit Yacht Club. Today, DRYA is the coordinating council for 25 area clubs and associations that manage most of the sailing activities in and around Detroit. From 70' racing yachts to junior sailing programs, virtually every way to go sailing in competition comes under the guiding hand of DRYA. The organization has focus on providing education, safety training, competition, academic recognition for student sailors, junior sailing programs, sponsorship of athletes for national competition with US Sailing, and support for a variety of events to promote sailing. DRYA is a non-profit corporation that has qualified as a charitable organization under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.
